The Immense Armies of the Potomac.

There is little doubt, remarks the Cincinnati Enquirer, that the armies now in Washington and its vicinity amount to the immense aggregate of near 200,000 men on each side, or 400,000 combatants. Whenever a general battle shall occur, it will not only have no parallel on the Western Continent in the forces engaged, but hardly one in the history even of modern Europe will vie with it. The great battles of Napoleon were generally fought with numbers far inferior to those now under the walls of Washington. For instance, at Austerlitz, where Napoleon defeated the combined armies of Russia, he had but 80,000 troops; the allies had 100,000. At Jena and Auerstadt where he broke the power of Prussia, his forces were not over 130,000 strong. At the great battle of Wagram, fought with the Austrians on the banks of the Danube, in 1809, he had but 150,000. At Borodino, under the walls of Moscow, he had but 120,000 to oppose the Russians. At Waterloo he did not have to exceed 80,000 troops. Not one of the battles in Italy or Spain even equaled this last number. The only battlefield we now recollect, where the combatants were as numerous as those around Washington, was Leipzig, in 1813, where Napoleon had 175,000 and the allies—Russians, Austrians, Prussians, Swedes and Germans—numbered 220,000. Nearly half a million of men took part in this tremendous battle, which was known as the Combat of the Giants. It lasted three days, and ended in the complete overthrow of Napoleon, who was driven into France, where a series of disasters commenced, that did not end until Napoleon abdicated his crown and was exiled to the Island of Elba, in 1814. No battle was ever fought on the soil of the United States where 60,000 combatants took part in it on both sides.

From these figures we can judge of what a battle we have reason to expect when the hosts of McClellan and Beauregard, more than twice the number of those of Napoleon and Wellington at Waterloo, come in collision on the banks of the Potomac. It will be an event that will be the great military feature, probably, for ages to come, of martial prowess in America. Washington never had 30,000 men in one army under his command; Jackson never had 15,000, and Scott never before the present year had seen 20,000 men under his orders. Great is the ability required to manoeuvre and handle such a large body of men, and bring them all into action at the proper time and place. The late battle at Bull Run extended over seven miles from one end of our line to another. At Washington, probably, the battle may be raging over a field double this size.

To know what is going on in such an amphitheatre, and to be prepared to order up reserves and strengthen every exposed point, requires the highest degree of intellect. At the battle of Bull Run half of both armies never fired a shot. Beauregard had 40,000 men at Manassas Junction, only three miles distant, whom he never used, and yet he would have been defeated had it not been for the opportune and unexpected arrival of a portion of Gen. Johnston's army from the Upper Potomac. McDowell had a powerful reserve, that took no part whatever in the action, and yet it was strong enough to have beaten back Johnston's division if it had been on hand at the proper moment. We have confidence that McClellan has not only plenty of men, but believe he knows how to use them.

METEORS.—M. Le Verrier has lately written a letter to Marshal Vaillant on the present theories of the solar system. He concludes that there are three rings of matter revolving round the Sun—one between the Sun and Mercury, the second near the Earth, including meteoric stones and shooting stars; and the third between Mars and Jupiter, consisting of small planets. The ring of asteroids between the Sun and Mercury has a total mass about equal to that of Mercury. The ring which supplies our aerolites and shooting stars has a total mass of not more than a tenth part of that of the Earth. The total mass of the small planets between Mars and Jupiter is greater than one-third that of the Earth.

A blacksmith recently made out a bill against one of his customers for welding with steel two mattocks. The son of Vulcan, who had been more used to wielding a sledge hammer than studying Dr. Kendrick, wrote out the item in the following manner: "To stealing 2 mad ducks two shillings."

A curate having been overhauled by his bishop for attending a ball, the former replied: "My lord, I wore a mask." "Oh, well," returned the bishop "that puts a new face on the affair."

YOUNG BOMBA'S WIFE.—The ex Queen of Naples goes about Rome in man's attire; she smokes and swears; she hectors her sisters-in-law, has pitched battles with the Princes and Princesses of the House of Bourbon. The members of the exiled family have constant bickerings among themselves. High words and angry screams are heard from the Quirinal's windows. Plates are shied at Royal heads, and fly into the streets, to the great scandal of the Swiss guard at the Palace gates. The Queen carries a revolver at her side, and delights in the exhibition of her skill; she aimed at a cat the other day, in the Quirinal garden, who was basking in the morning sun (the Queen is up at five) and the poor thing leaped up in the air, hit through the head, and dropped down like lead into a basin of water beneath. Now said puss belonged to Signora Bertazzoli—no less a person than Cardinal Antonelli's sister, who occupies some apartments in the lower stories of the immense papal residence, and the bereaved gentlewoman ran to her brother's office, and stormed and raged, and called for vengeance for her feline favorite; the Cardinal soothed her, and assured her that revenge she should have, and tabby's manes should be appeased, for that the ex Queen should find the Quirinal too hot for her, and she and her family, and her murderous revolver, with bag and baggage would have to decamp. While on her first arrival the Royal Bavarian was waited upon and made much of by the proudest matrons and damsels of the Roman nobility, she is now voted mauvais ton, and left to her inexpressibles, her cigars, and her execution of domestic pets.

RATES OF OCEAN PASSAGE.—The prices of passage from San Francisco on the steamers of the P. M. S. Co., through to New York, are as follows: First cabin, deck room, $258 50; main deck room, $233 25; second cabin, $180 75; and steerage, $128 25. To go to New York around Cape Horn in a clipper ship, first cabin, costs about $150, more or less, according to accommodations, style of living, etc. A cabin passage to China costs from $57 to $125; to Australia, about the same; and the Sandwich Islands from $40 to $60. A cabin passage to England costs about $150.

Speaking of apples, it is rather remarkable that the first apple in Paradise should have turned out the first Pair.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—A Specific Remedy for Complaints to which Females are liable. After the experience of many years, it is incontestably proved that there is no medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for the cure of diseases incidental to females. They are composed of rare balsams, and are so mild and innocuous that they may be taken by females of all ages. As a medicine for family use Holloway's Pills are unequalled, because, powerfully efficacious as they are in the banishment of disease, they act so gently on the stomach, that they may be given with the utmost confidence and perfect safety to young children.

L. LOWENBERG,

Funeral of Commander Robson.

Yesterday morning the remains of Commander Robson, late of H. M. gunboat Forward, were brought into our harbor by the gunboat Grappler, accompanied by five boats belonging to the Topaze and Heate. On arriving abreast of the Hudson Bay Company's wharf, the Officers, sailors and Marines, with the body of the deceased, were landed. The naval procession was immediately formed to do the last honors to the gallant officer. First were a company of marines; next the band of H.M.S. Topaze; then the body of Commander Robson in a coffin resting on a gun-carriage drawn by sailors. It was covered by the flag of his country, surmounted with his cocked hat and sword. Following the coffin were the mourners, among whom were T. J. Skinner, Esq., and his three sons; G. T. Gordon, Esq., and two sons; and Archdeacon Wright. Then came the Forward's ship's company. After them came the captains, Richards and Spencer, and officers of the Forward, Heate and Topaze, and His Excellency Gov. Douglas. Then followed a long procession of citizens, who desired to testify their high respect for the deceased. The funeral moved on slowly, while the band played the "dead march" till it reached Christ's Church. Some five or six hundred persons accompanied the procession besides those who had formed regularly into line. In all there could not have been less than 1500 persons who attended the funeral, making it the largest that ever occurred here.

The Rev. Mr. Dundas officiated at Christ Church and at the grave, by reading the burial service. The usual salute was fired by the Marines over the grave of the deceased, thus closing his connection forever with the service of which he was an ornament.

Commander Robson was a native of Yorkshire, England, where his wife and father (a clergyman) reside. He had distinguished himself in the service several times by his gallant conduct. Once he volunteered into the Dauntless in the West Indies when no one else would, owing to her officers and crew suffering severely from yellow fever. He also volunteered to bring an American vessel from the coast of Africa to Philadelphia which had lost her officers by yellow fever. In the last Russian war he was in the Baltic fleet before Sveaborg, and is highly spoken of for his gallant conduct. We have few other particulars of his history except the services which he has rendered to this Colony. His rescue of the crew of the American brig Consort on the west coast of this Island, nearly a year ago, for which our American residents sent a memorial to President Buchanan, recommending a national recognition of his services, and his bombardment of the Indians at Cape Mudge, are the principal acts in which he distinguished himself here. He was a universal favorite with every one in the Colony, and all lament the sad accident that cut short a career that promised to be so bright, and cut short just as he was anticipating his promotion to a captaincy.

PANTHER.—Our citizens may see at the saloon of Mason & Balls, on Yates street, an extraordinary specimen of the feline race. It is a gigantic panther measuring 8½ feet from the tip of the nose to the end of the tail. The tail is 2½ feet long. It could not have weighed less than 200 or 250 pounds. This monster was shot by Mr. George Mason about two weeks ago, at his farm, about four miles from town. He observed the panther about forty feet up a tree; fired at him, struck him in the head, and down he fell stunned. He recovered, and nearly killed Mr. Mason's dog. Another bullet through the shoulder and a charge of buckshot did the business. He was then brought to town and the skin stuffed. We have known no more ferocious looking beast to be killed in our forests. There is no doubt but he had been living on pork. Another of the same size is known to be in the neighborhood where this one was killed. He would be a dangerous customer for an unarmed person to meet alone.

A MINT.—We understand that a large number of our merchants are expected to wait on His Excellency the Governor to-day, to consult with him on the best means of getting a plentiful supply of coin in the Colony. We presume it has reference to a Mint, either public or private.

COPPER ORE.—The schooner Alpha arrived yesterday from Queen Charlotte's Island, whither she had gone on an exploring expedition. She was entirely successful, as she brings back 25 tons of what is represented to be peacock copper ore.

ASSAULTING A CHINAMAN.—John Wayman, a colored man, was yesterday arrested by officer Blake for assaulting a Chinaman. He will be brought up to-morrow.

SAILED.—The barks Scranton and D. M. Hall both sailed yesterday—the former for Puget Sound to load lumber, and the latter for Nanaimo to take in a cargo of coal.

BENEFIT.—The receipts attending the electrical entertainment in behalf of the Sisters of St. Ann's Convent was $429—a handsome little benefit.

Later news from the seat of war may be expected by the Enterprise this morning.

PROMOTED.—Lieut R. C. Mayne, formerly of H. M. S. Heate, has been made a Commander in the navy. He left the Heate at San Francisco and went to England.

LIQUOR LICENSES.—The following liquor licenses have been taken out: White & Co., Johnson street, and S. Ringo, Langley street.

Court of Assizes.

The Court did not meet until 12 o'clock. Dick, an Indian, was arraigned for the wilful murder of a Squamish Indian on the 30th of September last.

The deposition of the prisoner at the Coroner's inquest and his confession to officer Blake at the Police Court, in both of which the prisoner admitted his guilt, were given into Court. From these it appears the prisoner was walking out to a farm with an Indian named Dick and the deceased. They were all the worse for liquor. Dick and the deceased commenced fighting, and the prisoner separated them several times. They began again and Dick being the weaker often went to the ground. At this, the prisoner's heart grew sick, and recollecting that the tribe to which the deceased belonged had killed his father, he drew his knife and stabbed the Squamish Indian twice. He was drunk at the time or he would not have done it.

Peter, a Songish Indian, was placed in the box, and on affirming that he was aware there was a God who would punish him if he did not tell the truth, was duly sworn. He said he was going to Yale's farm in company with the deceased and the prisoner; he was drunk and began fighting with the deceased; the prisoner separated them once or twice. At length the prisoner drew his knife and stabbed the deceased twice. The prisoner's father had been killed by the Squamish Indians; he was a boy then, but his mother had brought him up to take vengeance on the tribe when he had an opportunity. The prisoner afterwards ran away.

The deposition of the deceased was that Peter and not Dick had stabbed him.

The prisoner had no counsel to defend him, and the Judge, in summing up, expressed his opinion that the jury ought not to consider the deposition of the deceased, which was that Dick had stabbed him.

The jury found the prisoner guilty, with a recommendation to mercy.

John Louis Deforce was indicted for the wilful murder of an Indian named Na-kort-ley.

The medical evidence of Dr. Forbes was taken to the effect that the deceased died from a gun-shot wound, which traversed obliquely through the chest.

Mr. Ring, counsel for the defence, applied for an adjournment until to-morrow to enable them to obtain the attendance of two witnesses.

No interpreter could be found in court capable of speaking the Fort Rupert language. Under these circumstances his honor adjourned the court until Friday, at 10 A. M.

Grand Jury Again.

EDITOR OF BRITISH COLONIST.—Whether are we drifting? Is this a Colony of free people, or are we living in a penal settlement? It is well for this community that you have shown up the provisions of Mr. Attorney-General's new jury bill before it was too late. This last experiment of Mr. Cary is of more vital importance to the Colony than any which this experimenting statesman has yet proposed. Governor de facto, prime minister, chief secretary, chancellor of the exchequer, and first law officer of the Crown, one would think would be power enough for any one man safely to do, without wishing to take upon himself the duties, privileges and powers of a whole people. I have happily had for some years the opportunity, which Mr. Cary never had, of witnessing this experiment in full operation—the duties of the Grand Jury assumed by the Attorney-General—and I pronounce it, without fear of contradiction, as totally incompatible with the interests of any infant Colony, especially with this.

Under circumstances the most favorable to success; in a Colony where the Governor, a man of unblemished moral character, possessed of experience and governing talent of the highest order, with the most enlightened views of civil liberty; a judiciary independent and above suspicion; an Attorney-General of long experience, moderate political opinions, and possessing the confidence of the people in his official capacity, and guarded by the bar and citizens, gentlemen educated in the most modern school of British freedom; there, where years ago, a Governor was packed off home by the people whose liberties he had trampled upon, and where, in later years, a Judge appointed by the Queen was suspended from his high office for tampering with the administration of justice, even then, in one of the most enlightened and liberty-loving Colonies of the Empire, has this power been employed to curtail freedom of speech.

If any argument were wanting in favor of a Grand Jury, the Springs would furnish a most powerful one.

Pass this bill and one other only will be required; an Act to appoint a Censor of the Press, and to declare the habeas corpus Act not in operation on this Island.

Are you aware, Mr. Editor, that clothed with the power conferred by this Act, the Attorney-General can, without let or hindrance, put you to the expense of defending before a jury, an indictment for the publication of any article which may appear in your journal.

Gold Bars.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—As the present inconvenience attending the exchange of gold bars for coin is misunderstood by many, it would be well to afford information on the subject, so that buyers and sellers may be placed on a proper footing.

The inconvenience referred to, arises not so much from a dearth of coin as from a disinclination on the part of the miner to sell his bars at the nominally high rates at present ruling.

One circumstance appears to be lost sight of, namely that the Assayers both here and at New Westminster stamp a fictitious value in dollars and cents on the gold bars. In both places they have adopted the par value of the United States Mint and stamp the bars accordingly, but without stating what value is intended, which is a mere delusion. In the absence of any defined value on the New Westminster ingot, the miner is generally under the impression that the figures represent the value in dollars and cents at the New Westminster Assay office, and he reasons, very properly, that his bar should command a premium in Victoria. This over valuation of nearly 3 per cent. (the expense of replacing the bar by coin from San Francisco) has the effect of seriously impairing the negotiability of gold bars in our market even when coin is abundant.

The duty of an Assayer is completed when he has described the weight and fineness of a bar. He knows nothing of its value, which, like that of any other commodity, is governed by supply and demand in the market. But if, for the convenience of the public, he should stamp a value on the bar, the nature of such valuation should be clearly expressed.

It is hardly necessary, I think, to point out to the Government the necessity for some alteration in the system of stamping the Government ingots. The present system, if pursued, will result not only in a reduction of business at the Assay office, but in a periodical emigration of many wealthy and industrious miners.

CAMBIER.

RUSSIAN NOTIONS OF AMERICA AND THE AMERICANS.—A St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York Post, says the ignorance of the people there respecting American affairs is often very amusing: "I have had kid-gloved Russian gentlemen, who spoke half a dozen languages, inquire if I meant to go home by railway; and at Kostroma, on the Volga, a well-dressed and apparently intelligent lady asked me, with charming frankness, whether our women were brown or red, and if, when I was at home, I was accustomed to wear clothes?"

An American abroad is now-a-days by no means an enviable creature. If his sympathy be enlisted on either side of the present contest, his anxiety must be considerable; but, if he be one who has been taught to love and reverence the Union, and to consider it absolutely necessary to the existence of his fatherland, his condition is still worse. Man, we are told, was made to mourn, but he was also made to fight, and never does an American feel so belligerent as now, when, traveling in Europe, he becomes the subject of self-complacent sympathy. It's very deplorable, but it is unavoidable, and I have expected it all along, said a German to me lately. Voilà la Grande République! exclaimed, in sneering triumph, a Russian officer in the palace of the Czar at Moscow. There's your boasted civilization; brothers cutting each other's throats, said a third. Well, it was a fine experiment, but I never thought it would permanently succeed, exclaims a fourth. And so, though a majority of the people I have met in Russia sympathize with the North, still a vast number are disposed to sneer and cavil. The prestige of the United States abroad is fearfully shaken, and the late defeat of Stone Bridge has not tended to restore it. If the Union be again cemented by Northern arms and energy, we will be respected as before, and the American abroad will again be proud of his country; but till the war is over, one way or the other, he will be disposed to shrink into his shell like a turtle, and must try very hard to keep himself from pulling the noses of the impertinent Job's comforters whom he is sure to meet.

cations, forms of which may now be had on applicapowering him to levy a reasonable toll on passengers, animals and goods, under certain exceptions, and to be subject to the power of the Govern-
